LIAISON Called Michael Hershman, Deputy Staff Director, Subcommittee on International Organizations, House International Relations Committee, to discuss the statement he was planning to deliver at the Subcommittee's public hearings the following day on the issue of whether or not restrictions had been placed on the investigative use of intelligence information on [redacted] activities in 1971-72.

LIAISON Called Joe Nellis, Chief Counsel, House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse Control, and explained that Mr. Carlucci, DDCI, would have to leave the hearing by 10:45 a.m. to make a White House meeting. Nellis will advise Chairman Lester Wolff (D., N.Y.).

LIAISON Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, advised that Senator Harrison Schmitt (R., N. Mex.), on a referral from Senator Lowell Weicker (R., Conn.), wanted to review the sensitive [redacted] material which was delivered for Senator Weicker's reading on Friday, 17 March. I said I was sure we would have no problem with this request but we would want staff access to be under the same terms and conditions that applied to Senator Weicker. After discussing this with Mr. Carlucci, I advised Miller that this was our decision and in response to my request said he would close the loop with Senator Stevenson.

15. [REDACTED] LIAISON Called Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, to see if he had any objection to our sending to Representative Les Aspin (D., Wis.), House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, the study sent to the Senate Select Committee in October 1977 on [REDACTED].<sup>25X1</sup> Miller said by all means do send it but to omit references to the Senate Select Committee.<sup>25X1</sup>

I later arranged with Miller to meet with Agency and Department of Justice representatives at 10:30 a.m. on 22 March regarding a Justice Department position against providing a Congressional document to an FOIA requester.

16. [REDACTED] LIAISON Received a call from Jean Evans, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, who said Pat Norton, also of the Committee staff, was considering the possibility of open counter-intelligence hearings in May related to Committee charter questions. Evans asked our opinion of whether the following questions could be dealt with in open session: the scope and nature of the threat of foreign intelligence and security services, the kinds of activities needed in response to the threat and the extent to which these activities impact on rights of Americans provisions in the Committee proposals. Evans said he was also looking for recommendations on whether there should be an Agency or FBI spokesman or both.<sup>25X1</sup>

17. [REDACTED] LIAISON Met for a half an hour with Richard Haas, an American who is working with the International Institute for Strategic Studies in London. Haas is preparing a study for the Institute on the increased Congressional role in foreign policy and national defense questions and its meaning for U.S. allies. One part of his study will be a section on intelligence and Haas asked me several questions about Congressional oversight of intelligence. He had previously talked with [REDACTED], both of CSS/NFAC, on providing substantive information to Congress. Everything I told Haas was unclassified.<sup>25X1</sup>

18. [REDACTED] EMPLOYMENT REQUEST Received a call from Curtis Chen, in the office of Representative Berkley Bedell (D., Iowa), who requested he be sent a professional application for employment. OLC Registry was advised.<sup>25X1</sup>

29. [REDACTED] LIAISON Pauline Baker, Senate 25X1
Foreign Relations Committee staff, called to ask when she could expect to receive the written response to the questions that had not been covered at the 10 February 1978 Senate Foreign Relations Committee closed hearing on foreign military presence in Africa. I told her that [REDACTED] NFAC/25X1 CSS, was attempting to come to grips with this problem, but that, as I had told her previously, the analysts are really overloaded and have not been able to address themselves to the large list of questions that she sent us. She then went on to suggest that there is Senatorial pressure for a response and that she has been successful so far in resisting pressure to send a letter to the DCI. She then said that she had not yet received copies of the charts (boards) that were used during the hearing. I apologized and said that I had not recalled that a request for these charts had been made and that if such a request was made I should have followed up on it. I told her that I would look into getting copies over to her as quickly as possible and have passed the request on to [REDACTED]

SE Division, [REDACTED] C/EUR Division, and Cameron LeClair, DC/EUR
Division, at 1530 hours, Room H 407, The Capitol.

32. [REDACTED] LEGISLATION Spoke with Pat Norton, 25X1
on the staff of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, who said that, in the context of the schedule for testimony on the intelligence charter legislation, the Committee was considering inviting an Administration witness to testify in the earlier stages of the hearings before receiving testimony from public non-Government witnesses relating to individual rights and counterintelligence. I told Mr. Norton that, in my view, it probably would be more appropriate to schedule Administration witnesses, particularly the DCI, after the initial round of public testimony on the charter legislation, as previously contemplated by the Committee staff, rather than break up the Administration testimony. We did agree, however, that it would be useful to have testimony focusing on counterintelligence and individual rights in the early stages of the process, i.e., before the non-Government witnesses (such as the ACLU) likely to focus on this particular aspect of the legislation. I told Mr. Norton I would discuss this matter with others and would get back to him.

33. [REDACTED] LEGISLATION Dave Barnett, at the 25X1 to their proposed amendment on the polygraph bill, S. 1845, and we therefore would not need to meet with him.
